

Companies with new ideas

If you have developed an idea or technology in the healthcare or life sciences arena Cels can provide the support and information you need to take it to market.

Cels has close relationships with a number of organisations and agencies across the region such as North East Finance (formerly NStar), which provide funding for business start-ups. We can put you in touch with these potential sources of investment and can also facilitate introductions with key organisations in the private and public sector, academics and clinicians.

We can also make sure your idea has the best chance of success by helping you to develop your business plan. Cels's Venturing programme also provides business support and management advice.

Through NEPAF Cels is able to provide access to state of the art equipment and expertise in the field of proteomics to help companies develop new or improved products

HealthConnect, our healthcare network, provides useful information on topics such as funding and product development. Members also have the opportunity to meet potential partners, share best practice and discuss ideas.

Cels also offers access to business consultancy services through our commercial services division CBSL.
